There was a time when the buyers for Spanish properties were nearly all retirees but that changed some time ago and now the majority of international buyers are younger and are looking to start a business and the majority of those are looking at the Airbnb opportunities as inland Spain is desperate for Airbnb properties offering security for bikers and cyclists who often have outrageously expensive equipment and somewhere to stay that is not only comfortable but has great character. La Bodega Antigua (The Old Winery) nails it. This is not some idle boast; I have rarely seen anything that compares for features and character. Airbnb is fairly simple, give...(Ask for More Details!)
